...join the revolution

Are you interested in helping to bring the benefits of Qigong and Tai Chi to more people who can become empowered from this good work?

If you are an instructor and want to build and develop your student base... or if you are a dedicated student who wants to take your practice to the next level by merging science and heart... QigongTracker™ may be the tool to help you...

Imagine a state-of-the-art, online software system that builds community around Qigong and Tai Chi practice and the data collected from actual results, healings, and feedback from other people like you, monitored by a medical advisory panel.

With features ranging from advanced tracking survey/data gathering tools to interactive calendars and automated group emailing for scheduling and promoting classes or events, QigongTracker™ is a revolutionary way to reinvent your practice.

Instructors, associations or schools register to create a “Program” on QigongTracker™ that they customize and are responsible for. This includes all the instructors under that Program and classes or teaching opportunities that they offer. Interested students come to QigongTracker™ online and search through the list of Programs and select one they wish to connect with. The advanced matching tools connect students with the best-fit instructors for them. Everyone in all the Programs take surveys and evaluations and this information can be tracked and viewed – on an individual or aggregate basis - in a variety of stunning graphs. Together, Members can use this information for promoting good work and help develop the largest database ever collected on the healing benefits of Qigong and Tai Chi.
